Product description

The FLECK Auraflex universal vent is a versatile ventilation solution for pitched roofs. Its flexible sleeve, made from high-quality rolling lead substitution material, adapts to different roof tiles and can be integrated with a perfect fit into the roof covering to provide a weatherproof seal. Durable, weather-resistant and UV-resistant components ensure a long service life.

The universal roof vent can be easily adjusted to the existing roof pitch up to 60°.

It is available in nominal sizes DN 125 and DN 150 and in black, red and brown. The DN 125 version features a removable weather cap and includes a reducer to DN 100.
